Be among the very first to dive a newly opened and under explored dive destination in Northern Sulawesi – Buyat Bay!

North Sulawesi is an exotic year-round dive destination & an area offering unparalleled marine biodiversity and outstanding natural beauty. Located just four hours south of Lembeh Strait, Buyat Bay is home to the world's largest private Reef Ball project in the world. We have a unique opportunity for you to be one of the first to dive Buyat Bay and explore one of the few Indonesian reef ecosystems that has been protected from years of destructive fishing practices. The accommodations at Buyat Bay are rustic, but comfortable, and the diving experience surpasses the expectations of the most seasoned diver.

After our Buyat adventure, we will head to the famous and intriguing Lembeh Strait, which hosts the best muck diving on the planet. Said to be the epicenter for marine life, there are more species to be found here than anywhere else on the planet, with new discoveries being made every day. It's a haven for the unusual and a rare camouflaged critters and a treat for any avid diver. You will see critters here that you have only seen in the fish identification books. And here they are not rare but fairly common. Every dive brings a plethora of new and exciting subjects. And besides the sand, divers can take the plunge on pinnacles, walls and slopes of extravagant hard and soft coral gardens as well as a number of wrecks, some dating from WWII. Diversity is the operative word here. A true photographers dream!
